Pretty Double Wedding.

Joyous marriage bells will ring this afternoon at three o'clock at the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wolfe, of Tionesta twp., when a double wedding will be solemnized. The contracting parties are Mr. Charles Wagner and Miss Olive Wolfe, and Mr. Will W. Wolfe and Miss Tula Mealy, and the officiating minister will be Rev. W. G. Wygant of Lickingville. Miss Hazel Clark will play the wedding march, and neither couple will have attendants. A wedding dinner will be served immediately after the ceremonies, and the newly-weds will take their departure at once for their new homes, Mr. and Mrs. Wagner going to Youngstown, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe to Independence, Kansas, where the gentlemen have good positions. Miscellaneous showers were given the brides-to-be during the week, and a most magnificent array of presents, consisting of cut glass, linens, etc., was bestowed upon each.

—Farmer Fred Weingard of German Hill has added a new piano to his household enjoyment, and we are not sure but that the next will be an automobile. And then Fred and his better half will be enjoying about all the comforts of city life while living in the country.

—There seems to be quite an epidemic of typhoid fever developing along the B. & O. railroad between Foxburg and Kane. Milton Taylor, a brakeman on the road, is the latest victim of the disease to be taken to the Kane hospital. His parents reside at Marienville, but he has been home but little of late.

—The threshing machine and grain separator is abroad in the land and is finding much to do in filling the farmers' bins with the ripened cereals. The yield of wheat, rye and oats is found to be considerably above the average in this region, and the buckwheat crop promises to be not far behind in this respect.

—H. S. Sitley of West Hickory has moved his distilling rig back to Beaver Valley from Ross Run, where he completed a well recently for McKean county capitalists. The well was located on tract 5193, and at 125 feet was dry, with not enough showing for either oil or gas to warrant a shot of high explosive.

—Contractor Lundager has one pier for the Coleman & Co. railroad bridge that is to span Tionesta creek at the mouth of Johns run, completed, and another well along. Work is progressing well under the favorable weather conditions and the low stage of water, and doubtless three weeks more will see all four piers completed.

—Charles Kagle and Don McCalmont, of Eagle Rock, purchased the saw mill of Thomas Brothers, located on Smokey Hill, and last Thursday moved it to Eagle Rock. The new owners recently purchased 200,000 feet of white oak timber on a tract three miles out from Eagle Rock on the Pitchole road, and the mill will be set up on this tract.

—While standing near the open door of his barn watching a storm Sunday afternoon John Coats of Rockland township, Venango county, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Several other men were in the barn at the time, having gone there to escape the storm. All were more or less shocked but not seriously. A wife and four children survive the dead man.

—A. C. Gregg was down from Brookston Friday to witness the petitions for final papers of naturalization of the following persons: Brush Regoraki, Joseph Tokarczyk, Hermann Davis, Wilhelm Frederick Schauer and Carl Frederick Weidner. Zahniser, Ridgway, Pa.; Henry O'Hara, McKees Rocks, Pa. (new); Wilson King, East Hickory, Pa.; W. J. McKee, Tionesta twp.; Dr. H. L. Davis, Chicora, Pa.; Lute White, Endeavor, Pa.; Miss Constance Copeland, Kellettville, Pa. (new); Adam Mealy, Tionesta twp.

—The fishing in the river is about the best ever, judging from the fine strings that are being brought in by most any sort of fisherman. Catching the limit of bass and salmon is quite an ordinary stunt if one is minded to believe all one hears. It is a positive fact, however, that Miss Helen Smeabough caught a wall-eyed pike with a casting outfit last evening that weighed four pounds. A REPUBLICAN reporter saw and "betted" the handsome fish.

—F. K. Brown, of Clarion, driving his White automobile had a narrow escape from serious injury or possibly death late Tuesday p. m. at the P. R. R. crossing near the tannery machine shop. Mr. Brown did not notice the approach of several cars that were being shunted with the result that they struck his car, but did not overturn it. The front axle was bent and the auto otherwise damaged. Mr. Brown, who is a brother of Mrs. L. B. Long, of this place, had been a guest at the Long home for the past two days.—Ridgway Advocate.

—Mrs. Phoebe Ann Fleming, wife of Rev. B. F. DeLo, passed away in the evening of Aug. 30, 1913, after a long illness of nervous prostration, at her home in Clarion, Pa. She was the daughter of Daniel and Phoebe Fleming and was born May 11, 1836, in what is now Harmony township, Forest county, then Venango. January, 1857, she was united in marriage with Rev. B. F. DeLo, and for 36 years they were in the itinerant ministry of the M. E. church. In 1884 they moved to Clarion, which has since been their home. Besides her husband she is survived by one son William C. DeLo, of Clarion, two brothers, Rev. A. L. Fleming, Oklahoma; and Grant Fleming, Iowa.

—Jerome Leop of Pleasantville was the hero of a great fishing incident over at President, on the Allegheny river, on Sunday morning. He landed a muscalung which weighed eleven pounds, eight ounces and measures three feet and one inch from tip to tip. It was the biggest fish caught between Oil City and Warren this year.—Titusville Herald. It may be merely incidental, but it so happens that Jack Bush landed a fish on that same day at about the same spot that measured up to about the same dimensions. And it further transpires that he sold the big fish to a couple of Pleasantville gentlemen for an even two bucks. But either yarn is good enough for a fish story.

Porkey.

Our schools began last Monday morning with 24 in Room No. 1, Miss Tressa Hendrickson teacher, and sixteen in No. 2, Miss Kate Guenther teacher. At the end of the week there was a larger attendance, and we predict more to follow.

Vivian Brennan and Marian Rupert went to Sheffield to attend school this term, and Twila Shay expects to go away to school, possibly to Oil City.

Sheriff school opened on Monday, also with a nice attendance, and with Miss Adaline Grubbs at the teacher's desk. She is stopping at Wellers for a few weeks, when she will move nearer her school. Waterman-Waterbury Heating and Ventilating systems have been installed in the Porkey, Sheriff and Hastings schools, and are being commented on as being no good. But if we remember about 100 years ago this spring, when the first stove came out, everybody thought it would bust and kill us all, but it proved out safe after all the unnecessary worry. The new heaters are no experiment with the Howe school board, and it is not likely they would buy more if they had not proved satisfactory in the past with them.

There was an auto accident near Wellers a few days ago but no one was injured when a large machine ran onto a small one in a narrow place in the road. The small machine had some damage to the front axle and steering gear. There are no restrictions as to speed in this part of the country and people can keep any speed they wish. There are a lot of locations along the creek for serious accidents, which may come sooner or later.

The ladies of Minister had a social in the Minister church on Saturday evening and cleared about $16 to repair the church building. They had a good time and nice crowd attending, with fine order and everything passed off pleasantly.

L. R. Brennan is entertaining his father, Mr. Wm. Brennan, who has been in the west for several years. Mr. Brennan looks much younger than he really is and seems to be enjoying good health.

Samuel Lobsough of Ellettsville, Pa., is the guest of friends in this vicinity for a few days.

The church service at Minister was well attended last Sunday morning, and there were 54 at Sunday school, which is growing in attendance. If not storming next Sunday the school will be photographed.

Claude Littlefield moved to Henrys Mill last week, where he will work on the gasoline plant that is building at that place for the South Penn Oil Company. Claude took but a few things to shanty with, as he expects to be back to Porkey this winter.

Dorothy Burdick, who is located in Indiana in a telephone exchange, is visiting relatives in this vicinity while on a short vacation. She was at Porkey until Saturday when she went to visit her parents at Henrys Mill, and will start west on Tuesday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. J. T. Miller, part of the way, who is going to Spartansburg for a visit.

Mrs. J. C. Black has been sick for a few days and confined to her bed with an attack of neuralgia, but is getting better under the care of Dr. Serrill of Kellettville.

Miss Olive Blum was unable to attend Sunday school on Sunday last on account of sickness, something like pleurisy.

John Thornton is again smiling, all of which is caused by a late visit of the stork which left a fine boy baby at his home in Sheriff. This last arrival makes him four boys.

Mrs. John Stover of Glade was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Littlefield, last week.

Frank Rayhorn and family of Mayburg were the guests of the E. L. Littlefield family on Sunday last. These families are contemplating a visit to the eastern part of the state next week.

Miss Nellie Lobdell spent Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shay at Wellers.

Miss Jennie Meager and Joseph Leichtenberger were married a short time ago and their friends are going to give them a miscellaneous shower the coming week. This will be a great success as both parties are well liked in this community and come from the best families the country has seen.

Recent Deaths.

William B. Weed, well and very favorably known to the people of Forest county as stenographer of our courts for the past thirty six years, died at his home in Warren, September 6, 1913, after an illness of a year or more. He was born in Dayton, N. Y., March 14, 1833, and was therefore 80 years of age. His boyhood days were spent in the town where he was born. Early in life he became filled with a desire to become an expert stenographer. He entered the Pottsville academy where he took up a shorthand and business course and became very efficient, graduating with high honors. Coming to Warren in 1877, Mr. Weed applied for and became the first court reporter in Warren county, under the administration of Judge L. D. Wetmore, deceased, and successively served under Judges W. L. Brown, Charles H. Noyes, Wilton M. Lindsey, W. E. Rice and the present judge, W. D. Hinckley, until about a year ago when severe illness compelled him to retire. He was also clerk of the Warren town council for about twelve years. With the people of Forest county Mr. Weed was very popular, his quiet, unassuming manners gaining him the friendship of all with whom he came in contact. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Evelyn, and three sisters, his wife having preceded him in death two years. Funeral services in his memory were held Monday afternoon, his body being laid to rest beside his wife in Oakland cemetery. The obsequies were very largely attended, attesting his popularity in the community where most of his life was spent.

NEILL.

Mrs. Hannah E. Neill died at her home, 16 Tuna avenue, Bradford, Pa., Tuesday evening, Sept. 2, 1913, at 6:45 o'clock, after a short illness, aged 97 years. Mrs. Neill was a daughter of the late Major and Mrs. E. Newton, and was born at Buffalo Furnace, Armstrong county, Pa., while her father was engaged in the iron business at that place. The family afterward moved to Meadville which was her home until she was united in marriage with Hampson Neill, who preceded her to the grave nearly 20 years. Four children were born of this union, two of whom, Misses Edna and Martha Neill, survive. The deceased had been a resident of Bradford for fifteen years, where she made a host of friends and was universally loved and respected. A woman of gentle, quiet disposition, and acquainted with grief, Mrs. Neill yet found many ways to aid and comfort others in sorrow, and in so doing she realized more pleasure in life than is usually vouchsafed to those who have passed through deep afflictions.

As an occasional visitor to the home of her sister in Tionesta Mrs. Neill had gained many friends here, all of whom shared keenly in the grief that the news of her death brought to this community, and who sympathize most deeply with the relatives in their bereavement. Improvised funeral services were conducted in Bradford Wednesday evening by Rev. F. S. Tinsler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist church of that place. On Thursday afternoon the remains were brought to Neill town, this county, where they were laid to rest beside those of her beloved husband and two sons, in the beautiful little cemetery at that place. A number of Tionesta friends attended the services of interest.

Besides the two daughters, Mrs. Neill is survived by one brother, Charles Newton, Youngstown, Ohio, and three sisters, Mrs. C. M. Coris, Chicago, Mrs. H. S. Wallace, East Brady, and Mrs. J. H. Derickson, Tionesta. The last three were privileged to reach their sister's bedside before she died and to attend her funeral.
